- Maintaining independence and well-being is important for all aging adults. As we age we often notice that balance, coordination and memory decrease, which can often make it difficult to perform normal daily tasks.
• Many seniors are living day-to-day with little to no interaction with others. Lack of companionship can accelerate the aging process and can cause any individual to become depressed. Your GOLDEN YEARS should not be spent alone and/or sitting in a rocking chair.
• A BODY IN MOTION STAYS IN MOTION - Movement, strength, and flexibility are all vital for one's overall wellness; physical and mental health. NO MATTER YOUR AGE!
